

EU Blue Card (Blaue Karte EU)

Issue of an EU Blue Card for highly qualified foreign nationals to engage in an occupation befitting their qualifications.

The EU Blue Card is issued for a period of four years if the employment contract is permanent or, in the case of a temporary employment contract, lasts for at least four years. In the case of shorter employment contracts, the EU Blue Card is issued for the duration of the employment plus three months.

For the first two years of employment, approval from the Foreigners' Registration Office must be obtained before any change of job.

Prerequisites

- Possession of a qualification from a German Hochschule, an accredited foreign university or university college qualification, or a foreign university or university college qualification comparable to a German Hochschule qualification

It is possible to submit a query to the online database of the Central Office for Foreign Education Affairs (Zentralstelle für ausländisches Bildungswesen, ZAB) to determine if the foreign university or university college qualification is recognised in Germany (see under 'More information').

If the database does not contain any relevant information, applicants are required to apply to the ZAB to have their qualification specifically evaluated against payment of a fee and to present their qualification certificate to the ZAB (see under 'More information').

- Qualified employment with a minimum gross salary of EUR 50,800 per annum or, in shortage occupations, a gross salary of EUR 39,624 per annum

Annual gross income of at least EUR 50,800 (or gross income of EUR 4,233 each month) must be earned from the qualified employment.

In certain shortage occupations, annual gross income of EUR 39,624 (or gross income EUR 3,302 each month) is sufficient.

These professions at present are: Scientists in natural science disciplines, mathematicians, architects, interior, urban and traffic planners, designers, engineers, scientific engineers, physicians (except dentists) and those with academic qualifications in information and communications technology.

- Approval of the German Federal Employment Agency

When engaging in employment

- with an annual gross income of at least EUR 50,800 (or gross income of EUR 4,233 monthly) or,
- in shortage occupations, an annual gross income of EUR 39,624 (or gross income of EUR 3,302 monthly), and when in possession of a German university or university college qualification,

no approval is required from the German Federal Employment Agency (Bundesagentur für Arbeit).

However, when

- holding a foreign university or university college qualification and
- engaging in employment in a shortage occupation,

the Federal Employment Agency must provide approval.

If a licence is required to practice a profession (e.g. physician, engineer), evidence of this licence or evidence that the licence will be issued must be presented before the EU Blue Card can be issued.
