

Transfer of a valid residence permit to a new passport

* If you have a new passport, you can have your residence permit transferred to the new passport.

* In general, the residence permit is inserted as a sticker in your new passport, even when your residence permit was issued as an eAT.

* Electronic residence permits can at the moment only be issued in exceptional circumstances.

*If you want to travel abroad before the residence permit has been transferred*

If no appointments are available at short notice, it is possible to start a trip abroad even without a transfer, if you have your old passport and your residence permit which is still valid. You will be able to return to Germany without any problems, if you take your new passport and the old passport with you.

However, it is recommended that you check the entry and exit conditions of the host country before traveling abroad (e.g. at the consular authority of the host country).
