Register a trade

You must register your business whenever you start a self-employed business with a fixed place of business (known as a 'permanent business').

This applies in the following cases:

1. Setting up a new business/head office,
2. Setting up a new branch,
3. Setting up a dependent branch,
4. Taking over an existing business, e.g. through purchase, inheritance or lease,
5. Joining an existing partnership as a new managing partner, e.g. in a GbR, KG or OHG,
6. Conversion of a business into a different legal form (in the event of a change of legal form, deregistration of the business under the old legal form and registration of the business under the new legal form must be carried out),
7. Relocation of a business from another federal state to Berlin (in the event of relocation, deregistration of the business must be carried out with the trade licensing authority of the previous municipality and registration of the business must be carried out with the Public Order Office in Berlin).

The business registration must be carried out at the same time as the business commences operations.

The notification requirement applies only if the activity is a commercial activity.

What is a commercial activity?

A commercial activity is any activity that is not socially harmful, is carried out with the intention of making a profit, is intended to be of a permanent nature, and is carried out independently in one's own name and for one's own account. It is irrelevant whether a profit is actually made.

The activities listed in Section 6(1), first sentence, of the Trade Regulation Act (GewO) are exempt from the notification requirement. (See 'Further information').

Exemptions include, amongst others:

- Primary production (agriculture, forestry, hunting and fishing)
- Liberal professions (including lawyers, notaries, tax advisers, auditors, doctors, scientific, artistic and literary activities)
- Childcare provided for remuneration
- Education
- Management of one's own assets (e.g. a let property)
- as well as generally prohibited or socially undesirable activities (e.g. illegal gambling)

Some business activities also require a licence. Others are subject to supervision. Additional requirements then apply to them (see 'Further information').

The competent authority also forwards the business registration to other bodies such as the tax office, the Chamber of Crafts or the Chamber of Industry and Commerce, the registry court and the employers' liability insurance association. The purpose of registering a business is to enable the competent authority to monitor the conduct of the business and to carry out statistical surveys.

Procedure

1. You must register your business online via the link below (with or without a BundID account) or in person at the Public Order Office using the PDF form.
2. If you register your business online, you can pay the reduced fee online. If you register in person, you must pay the fee directly at the Public Order Office.
3. If you register online using a BundID account, the business confirmation will be sent directly to your BundID account. If you have not used a BundID account, you will receive the business confirmation by post. If you register in person, the business confirmation will be handed to you on the spot.
