Pawnbroking business - apply for a permit

Anyone wishing to operate a pawnbroker's business or act as a pawnbroker's agent must obtain a licence from the relevant authority. The licence may be subject to conditions where this is necessary to protect the public or the pledgor. You must apply for the licence before commencing business. You are only authorised to carry on the business once the licence has been granted.

Pawnbrokers and pawnbroking agents

- A pawnbroker grants a cash loan against the deposit of collateral to secure the loan, together with interest and the costs of conducting business. The pawnbroker must also notify the competent authority, at the start of business operations, of the premises to be used for the business. Any change of premises must also be notified.
- The pawnbroking agent acts as an intermediary in pawnbroking transactions by granting an advance on collateral entrusted to them and pledging the collateral in their own name with a pawnbroker.

As a pawnbroker, you are obliged to insure the collateral against fire damage, water damage, burglary and robbery for at least double the amount of the loan.

In the case of partnerships (e.g. GbR, OHG, KG), each managing partner is considered a trader; in the case of legal entities (GmbH, UG or AG), the licence is granted to the company.

Procedure

1. You must apply to the relevant authority for a licence to operate a business as a pawnbroker or pawnbroking agent.
2. Following the assessment, you will either be granted a licence or receive a notice of refusal. A licence may be subject to certain conditions.
