Reissuance of a permanent settlement permit or an EU long-term residence permit

Do you have a permanent settlement permit or EU long-term residence permit? Then you should have your permanent residence title reissued in the following cases:

- a) Your permanent residence title is still stuck as a sticker in your old passport, and you received a new passport.
- b) Your permanent residence title was issued as an electronic residence title (eAT), contains information about your old passport, and you have received a new passport. Please refer to the information in the document "When should a permanent residence permit be reissued?" (see section "Further information").
- c) Your eAT does not contain any passport details, but the eAT card has expired.

If you wish to travel abroad before your permanent residence title has been reissued:

Regarding a) and b) If you wish to travel abroad in the meantime, please take your old passport, your permanent residence title, and your new passport with you. This will allow you to re-enter Germany.

Other conditions may apply in the country you wish to travel to. Please find out in good time which documents you need for your planned trip. You can obtain information on this from the foreign mission of the country you wish to travel to, for example.

Regarding c) Re-entry into Germany is possible even if the eAT card has expired.

Procedure

1. Have your permanent residence title reissued. You can only do this on site by appointment..
2. The passport photo can either be taken on site for a fee or in advance at one of the photo studios/drugstores that can transmit it to the authorities via a secure electronic channel.
3. You will receive the PIN letter for activating your online ID function (eID) on site.
4. The permanent residence permit is produced as an electronic residence title (eAT) by the Federal Printing Office.
5. Pick up your finished eAT and the lock password for the online ID function (eID) from the authority that initiated the reissue.
6. If you have chosen direct delivery for the eAT at the Bürgeramt, you will receive an email from Deutsche Post with the expected delivery date. The shipment will only be handed over to you personally at your main place of residence. Only one delivery attempt will be made. You must identify yourself with your valid passport. The blocking password will also be delivered.
7. Use the PIN letter to set your personal PIN for the online ID function (eID).
