Apply for recognition as a test expert for the testing of technical systems

Inspection experts inspect and certify compliance with building code requirements. An inspection expert or inspection expert for the inspection of technical installations is a person who is recognised as such by the Supreme Building Supervisory Authority. Other persons may not use this designation. In Berlin, only persons who have their place of business/place of work in the state of Berlin as freelancers or employees can be recognised.

Inspection experts are recognised upon application in the fields of ventilation systems, CO warning systems, smoke extraction systems, pressurised ventilation systems, fire extinguishing systems, fire detection and alarm systems and safety power supplies. Recognition can be granted for one or more specialisations. Applications can be submitted at any time.

Only persons who fulfil the general requirements (§ 4 BauPrüfV) and the special requirements (§ 20 BauPrüfV) can be recognised. The special requirements include, among other things, proof of special expertise in the form of an expert opinion from a designated chamber of engineers. Applicants must undergo a comprehensive examination procedure consisting of a written and oral/practical examination.
