Gastronomic trade - apply for a provisional permit

Anyone who wishes to take over a gastronomic business requiring a permit from another operator may be permitted to operate the gastronomic business on a provisional and revocable basis until the final gastronomy permit is issued.

You operate a gastronomic business if, in a standing trade, you

1. serve drinks for consumption on the spot (pub management) or
2. serve prepared food for consumption on the premises (catering), if the establishment is accessible to everyone or to certain groups of persons.

Permission is required for the gastronomic business only if alcoholic beverages are served. If only non-alcoholic beverages and/or prepared meals are served, the restaurant business does not require a permit and you do not need a temporary restaurant permit.

The provisional gastronomy permit should not be issued for a period longer than three months. The period can be extended if there is an important reason.

Procedure:

1. If you wish to take over a gastronomy trade requiring a licence (serving alcohol), you need a gastronomy licence. You must apply for a provisional gastronomy licence so that you can continue to operate the business for the time being. You must submit the application together with the gastronomy licence. Please complete the application online, upload the required documents and submit it.
2. The competent authority will check your details and documents and request any missing documents. You will receive instructions on the further procedure and will be informed of the processing status by e-mail.
3. If all requirements are met and the necessary documents have been submitted, you will receive a fee notice and the provisional gastronomy licence by post. If not all requirements or necessary documents have been met, your application will be rejected and a fee will be charged. In this case, you can read the reason for the rejection in the notification from the competent authority.

Notes on responsibility

The application for a provisional gastronomy permit must be submitted to the public order office in whose district your business premises are located.

Only 1 application must be submitted for the provisional and the final gastronomy permit. During the examination of the licensing requirements in the preliminary procedure, the gastronomy can already be operated. If you intend to change the type of operation or premises of the existing gastronomy, the gastronomy may only be operated to the extent of the previous permit during the period of the provisional gastronomy permit.
