Auctioneer trade - Apply for public appointment and swearing-in

If you wish to conduct public auctions (compulsory pledge sales or emergency sales), you must be publicly appointed and sworn in as an auctioneer (m/f/d) by the competent supervisory authority.

The public appointment and swearing in is exclusively in the public interest. It does not serve the personal goals or ideas of the applicant.

In particular, it is not an admission to a profession, but the award of a special qualification. The owners of the auctioned goods have no influence on the price and the minimum bid and must therefore be able to rely on the fact that their property interests are represented at the auction in a particularly qualified way.

Appointments may be made in general or limited to certain types of auctions (e.g. jewellery, antiques or carpets etc.) where there is a need for auctioneer services. It may also be limited in content, set a time limit and be subject to conditions.

The appointment is valid for the entire Federal Republic of Germany and can only be issued to natural persons. As a publicly appointed auctioneer, you are sworn in to perform your duties conscientiously, free from instructions and independently and impartially.

Procedure:

1. You apply for public appointment as auctioneer at the Senate Administration responsible for economics. You indicate whether you wish to be appointed generally or only for certain types of auctions, i.e. for a specific subject area.
2. Your application will be examined by the competent authority.
3. If you satisfy the requirements for public appointment, you will be sworn in and receive an appointment certificate and the notice of appointment.

Prerequisites

- Natural person

Only natural persons are able to apply.

Legal entities (such as GmbHs, associations, registered cooperatives, foundations) cannot be publicly appointed and sworn in.

- Permission for the auctioneer

(<https://service.berlin.de/dienstleistung/292634/en/>)

You work freelance or as an employed person for an auctioneer and have a licence for the auctioneer's business. As an employed person you examine and evaluate the auction items independently and free from the instructions of your employer.

- Special expertise

- In the case of public appointments for the general sector, you must demonstrate above-average expertise and experience in the valuation of movable objects of the normally equipped household, such as those typically given to pawnbrokers for the purpose of lending (e.g. carpets, furs, jewellery, furniture, art and household effects).

- In the case of public appointments for certain types of auctions (e.g. antiques, works of art, etc.), you must provide evidence of special expertise and industry knowledge in that field.
 - In addition, you must have knowledge of all relevant provisions concerning the responsibilities, rights and obligations of an auctioneer (Trade Code, Auctioneer Ordinance, Commercial Code and Civil Code).
- Several years work experience
You have to demonstrate several years of practical experience as an auctioneer and hold regular (i.e. several times a year) auctions.
 - Orderly financial circumstances
The reliability of the auctioneer depends first of all on his independence and impartiality; therefore, you must not make yourself vulnerable, particularly in financial terms. You have to provide evidence of your orderly financial circumstances.
 - Personal reliability
(https://www.gesetze-im-internet.de/gewo/_34b.html)
Publicly appointed and sworn auctioneers carry out pledge and emergency sales. The aim here is to protect the economically weaker sections of the population from taking advantage of their distress and from being cheated. This requires the auctioneer to be reliable in character and especially reliable. You must provide evidence of personal reliability (cf. § 34 b section 4 GewO).
