Recognition of foreign professional qualifications - Public servants - career field scientific services

The exercise of sovereign powers and the performance of governmental tasks in Germany are predominantly carried out by persons who are employed as civil servants in a special public-law service and loyalty relationship.

The following career paths are possible in the career field of academic services:

1. Academic Councillors (second entry level),
2. Library Service,
3. Museum service,
4. Conservators, and
5. Scientific service at the police headquarters in Berlin.

In the state of Berlin, the hiring of a civil servant is bound by law to the possession of certain professional qualifications. If you have acquired professional qualifications abroad that enable you to work in the public service there, you must have these qualifications recognized in Berlin (as a career qualification) in order to be hired in the state of Berlin in a civil service position corresponding to your previous profession. For this purpose, the equivalence of your professional qualification with a career qualification in the state of Berlin must be determined.

Procedure:

1. You submit an application for recognition of your professional qualification as a career qualification for the career field of scientific services; for one of the above-mentioned career branches of the State of Berlin to the Senate Department responsible for science as the competent authority or to the Single Point of Contact. You will receive a confirmation of receipt.
2. The competent authority will determine whether your qualification can be assigned to the qualification for the running specialty and to a career segment of the career paths of the State of Berlin.
3. If the qualification can be assigned, the competent authority compares the preliminary and training requirements of the career qualification with your qualification certificates. If the authority determines a qualification deficit, it must be checked whether this can be compensated. In doing so, it must be checked whether the knowledge, skills and competencies acquired following the acquisition of the qualification as part of your previous professional experience or through lifelong learning, which have been formally recognized as valid for this purpose by a relevant body, can compensate for the deficit in whole or in part.
4. In the case of a qualification deficit that cannot be compensated, recognition is dependent on passing an aptitude test or successfully completing an adaptation course.
5. The decision on the application shall be made in writing. Successful completion of the recognition process results in qualification for the career branch and the respective career segment. It is possible that the career qualification is only recognized for certain tasks or offices (partial access).
6. If the requirements for recognition of the qualification are not met, you will receive a decision against which you have legal remedies in accordance with the Administrative Court Code (objection procedure, action procedure if necessary).

7. Recognition for a career branch of the Berlin state civil service is not associated with the placement of a position; you can apply for advertised positions.
