Anerkennung ausländischer Berufsqualifikationen (EU/EWR/Schweiz) als Gesundheits- und Kinderkrankenpfleger/in beantragen

Paediatric nurses look after and care for sick infants, children and adolescents in need of care. They carry out medically prescribed measures, assist with examinations and treatments and document patient data.

The profession of paediatric nurse is regulated in Germany. This means that you need a state licence to work as a paediatric nurse in Germany. With this permit, you can use the job title of paediatric nurse and work in the profession.

If you have a professional qualification from the European Union (EU), the European Economic Area (EEA) or Switzerland, you can also obtain a state licence from the competent authority in Germany. In order to obtain the permit, you must have your foreign professional qualification recognised.

In the recognition procedure, the competent authority compares your professional qualification from abroad with the German professional qualification and checks the equivalence. The equivalence of the professional qualification is an important prerequisite for the granting of a state licence.

In addition to the equivalence of the professional qualification, you must also fulfil other requirements for the licence to be issued. Further requirements are, for example, sufficient German language skills and health suitability.

If your professional qualification does not originate from the EU, the EEA or Switzerland, other regulations apply.

You can also apply for the procedure from abroad.

- Procedure

1. Application

You submit an application for authorisation to use the professional title of paediatric nurse to the competent authority.

2. verification of equivalence

The competent authority will then check whether you fulfil all the requirements. An important requirement is the equivalence of your professional qualification. The competent authority will compare your professional qualification from abroad with the German professional qualification as a paediatric nurse. The professional qualification is equivalent if there are no significant differences between your foreign professional qualification and the German professional qualification.

3. Possible results of the examination

If your professional qualification is equivalent, your foreign professional qualification will be recognised. The competent authority can confirm the result in writing. You must still fulfil the other requirements. You will then receive permission to use the professional title of paediatric nurse.

- Are there any significant differences between your professional qualification and the German professional qualification? You may be able to compensate for the differences through your professional experience, other knowledge or skills (lifelong learning). You must provide evidence of your professional experience. Knowledge and skills must be certified by an authority in the country in which you acquired the knowledge or skills.
- However, it may be that the significant differences cannot be compensated for by this knowledge. In this case, your foreign professional qualification will not be recognised. You will then not be allowed to work as a paediatric nurse in Germany.
- However, the competent authority will tell you the main differences and why you cannot compensate for the main differences with your professional experience. In most cases, you can take a compensatory measure. This will enable you to compensate for the main differences.

4. Compensatory measures

There are various compensatory measures:

- Adaptation course: The adaptation course lasts a maximum of three years.
- Aptitude test: In the aptitude test, only those areas in which significant differences have been identified are tested. The aptitude test consists of a practical examination combined with an interview.

You can choose between an adaptation period or an aptitude test.

If you successfully complete the compensation measure and fulfil all other requirements, you will receive permission to use the professional title of paediatric nurse.
