In general, no special qualifications are required for the crafts and similar trades that do not require a licence in order to practise them self-employed. These trades are not regulated.

This means that if you want to work self-employed in these professions on a permanent basis, you do not need a specific professional qualification. However, it may be advantageous if you can present an equivalence assessment for your professional qualification acquired abroad.

What is an equivalence assessment?

You have the right to a recognition procedure. *The procedure is called "equivalence assessment".

The competent Chamber of Crafts checks whether your professional qualification is equivalent to the German professional qualification (the journeyman's examination under German craft law). The competent authority compares the qualifications using certain criteria. Important criteria are the content and duration of the training. The competent Chamber of Crafts also takes your professional experience, your other certificates of competence and qualifications into account in the equivalence assessment.

You will receive notification of the result of the procedure. The assessment will list any existing and any missing professional qualifications. However, you will not receive a journeyman's title.

Recognition is an instrument of transparency to make your professional qualifications acquired in another country more usable on the German labour market. The certificate enables employers to better assess your professional qualifications. For professionals from third countries, a recognition procedure is usually a prerequisite for the issue of a visa. Third countries are all countries outside the European Union (EU), the European Economic Area (EEA) and Switzerland.

Procedure:

1. If you would like to work in the skilled crafts sector in Berlin, submit an application for equivalence assessment to the relevant Berlin Chamber of Crafts. You can also submit the application for equivalence assessment online from another country. The responsible Chamber of Crafts will inform you which documents may need to be submitted as certified copies. Please do not send any originals by post. If documents are not available in German, a German translation is also required.

2 The Chamber of Crafts will check the documents and determine whether and to what extent your professional qualification from another country is equivalent to the German professional qualification in the skilled crafts sector.

3. After paying the administrative fees, you will receive a notification with the result of the recognition procedure. Possible results may be

- a.) You will be recognised if your professional qualification and the German professional qualification are equivalent.
- b.) Sometimes there are significant differences between the professional qualifications. The differences are listed in your notification. You can use this decision to obtain further qualifications and later submit a new application for equivalence assessment.
- c.) If your professional qualification is not equivalent at all, you will not be recognised.

Note:

Regardless of the equivalence assessment, if you want to start self-employed work in the skilled crafts sector in Berlin, you must register with the relevant Chamber of Skilled Crafts in the register of crafts that do not require a licence or in the register of trades similar to skilled crafts. These are different procedures, more information can be found below under " More information".

Prerequisites

- Training of foreign craftsmen

You have a state-recognised professional qualification in a craft from another country.

- Place of activity in Berlin

You want to work in Berlin in the corresponding trade.

- Documents and translations

You have to submit your documents in German. Usually, the translations must be made by publicly appointed or authorised translators.

- For online applications: registration/login via BundID

(<https://service.berlin.de/nutzerkonten/bundid/>)

To submit your application online, log in with your BundID account. If you do not yet have a BundID account, please register with BundID. The basic registration with a user name and password is sufficient for this.

Documents required

- Application for assessment of equivalence between the foreign professional qualification and the German reference profession

You can apply online or in writing by post

- Proof of identity

Suitable proof of identity is, for example, a passport (passport substitute), all European identity cards or a convention passport.

Your proof was not issued in German? Then please also enclose a German translation.

The following information must be legible in Latin letters on the proof, e.g. in the translation of the proof of identity: Surname, first name, place of birth, date of birth. The proof of identity should include a photo of you and your signature.

- Curriculum vitae

The curriculum vitae (CV) or résumé should provide a tabular overview of your:

1. training programmes (professional training, academic training, school education)
2. further training
3. previous jobs

The CV must be written in German.

- Proof of training

Submit your proof of professional qualification. This can be, for example: examination and degree certificates, professional certificate, diploma certificate, Bachelor's and/or Master's certificate or comparable documents. If available, also enclose evidence of the content and duration of your training. These can be, for example Diploma Supplement, the Transcript of Records, the Relevé de Notes, the study book, the examination regulations as well as subject and grade overviews or comparable documents.

Your certificate was not issued in German? Then please also enclose a German translation.

- Proof of professional experience

Certification of the type and duration of your relevant professional experience. This includes, for example, references, work books, professional training or comparable documents.

Was your certificate not issued in German? Then please also enclose a German translation.

- If applicable, certificate from the country of training

If the profession is regulated in your country of training: a certificate stating that you are authorised to practise the profession in your country of training. The certificate must be issued by the competent authority in your country of training.

Was your certificate not issued in German? Then please also enclose a German translation.

- if applicable, proof of name change

If your first name or surname no longer matches the name on your professional qualification certificate (e.g. due to marriage, change of nationality, change of gender or similar reasons), please enclose official proof of the name change with your application. This can be a birth certificate, marriage certificate, naturalisation certificate or other suitable proof of the name change.

Was your proof not issued in German? Then please also enclose a German translation.

- if applicable, declaration or proof of previous applications for equivalence assessment

A declaration that you have not yet submitted an application for equivalence assessment or, if applicable, documents relating to previous applications for equivalence assessment submitted to other competent authorities.

Notes on responsibility

If you intend to work in Berlin, the Berlin Crafts Chamber is responsible for determining equivalence in a craft or similar trade that does not require a licence. The Chamber of Crafts will provide you with guidance before you submit your application and will identify the appropriate craft occupation for you. The Chamber of Crafts will inform you which documents you need to submit in the original or as a certified or simple copy with a German translation.
